

or Janette Hilton, and then went to Newark, N.J. and interviewed Capt. Brex of the Detective Bureau of Newark Police Department. He looked up the records of 1902 in an effort to locate the supposed arrest of Janette Hilton at 119 Academy Street by Detective Corson and Coakley and Capt. Uphous of the First Precinct, but could find no such record of arrest. He looked up the Capt's. desk record and several other books but could find no such record.

Operative made an investigation of 119 Academy Street and found the house occupied by negroes, and the whole street occupied the same, could find no one that knew a Janette Hilton. Made an investigation of 34 Campbell Street and found a new building at this address, a large department store.

At 10 Rankin Street could find no one that remembered or knew Janette Hilton.

At 17 Fair Street which is now 17 Lafayette Street there is a large open space used by the Central R.R. as a freight department.

Capt. Brex detailed a man to look up the records in an effort to find an arrest around 1902 which would show the addresses and in that way we might be able to find some of the addresses mentioned in this report. He states this woman might have been arrested and used another name. He will have this by Wednesday for me.

Operative interviewed several old time residents at 10 Rankin Street but could find none that lived around or in this house in 1902.

Respectfully submitted
